

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT, 1997 and FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AMENDMENT ACT 2003 - DECLARATION

The Department undertakes to use its best endeavours to hold confidential any information provided by the tenderer subject to the Department's obligations under law, including the Freedom of Information of Act, 1997 and its amendments. The Department is also governed by obligations imposed on it as a result of undertakings to the Construction Industry Federation and the Irish Congress of Trade Unions (see the Specification Clause dealing with same for information about the details regarding the tender which will be released and to which submission of a tender shall be deemed to signify the tenderer's agreement)

Should the tenderer wish that any of the information supplied by him with the tender submission should not be disclosed because of its sensitivity he should, when providing the information, identify same and specify the reasons for its sensitivity. The Department will consult with the tenderer about this sensitive information before making a decision on any Freedom of Information request received. Listing of any of the information that the Department has undertaken to provide to other tenderers and to the ICTU will invalidate the tender.
